

Jacksonville Microgreens for Restaurants, Caterers, and Creative Kitchens

Locally grown, hydroponically raised, and grown on demand.

Grown for Busy Kitchens

Tasty Little Leaves Microgreens grows fresh hydroponic microgreens in Jacksonville for restaurants, caterers, private chefs, and kitchens that want local microgreens grown on demand. Orders are planted after they are placed, giving each crop time to reach the right stage before harvest.

Flavor, Color, and Fresh Character

From peppery arugula and purple radish to sweet pea shoots and basil, each crop brings its own flavor, texture, color, aroma, and presence. Microgreens are grown to work as fresh ingredients, finishing touches, or wherever they fit your menu.

Grown to Order, Harvested Fresh

Because orders are grown on demand, the days listed are expected lead times from planting to harvest—not shelf availability. This keeps harvests fresh and helps timing line up with menu features, events, and standing orders. Grown hydroponically in a clean, controlled environment, each tray may still show natural variation in leaf shape, size, color, and growth.

What Kitchens Can Expect

Simple, fresh support for your kitchen:

- Fresh flavor, texture, color, and aroma for plates, specials, and prep.
- Clear communication for samples, standing orders, event timing, and harvest availability.
- Fresh harvests grown around the timing you need.

Varieties

Listed days are expected lead times from planting to harvest.

Core Variety	Grow Time	Core Variety	Grow Time
Arugula	10–12 days	Purple Radish	8–11 days
Basil	21–24 days	Red Cabbage	12–14 days
Broccoli	11–12 days	Rainbow Radish	8–11 days
Kale	12–14 days	Salad Mix	11–12 days
Sunflower	10–12 days	Super Spicy Greens	10–12 days
Pea Shoots	8–10 days

Plan Your Order

- Browse current microgreens products online, then plan for menu features, events, one-time orders, and recurring harvest needs using the listed lead times.
- Reach out to talk through timing, samples, pricing, one-time orders, or weekly, bi-weekly, and monthly subscriptions.